HIS MAJESTY SENDS INSPIRING MESSAGE TO THIS DOMINION

Expresses Warm Appreciation for Joint Address Sent by Canadian Parliament at His Jubilee—Recalled Loyal Support in Eventful Years of War and Economic Difficulty

OTTAWA, June 3 (CP).—A message was received today from King George to the members of the Senate and House of Commons, expressing warm appreciation for the joint address of the two Houses, which was adopted prior to the Silver Jubilee and presented to His Majesty by Prime Minister R. B. Bennett at St. James' Palace on May 8.

Hon. J. L. Bowman, Speaker of the House of Commons, read the message to the members of the House of Commons tonight, the event having an added interest in that the message was received on the King's seventieth birthday.

THE KING'S MESSAGE
Following is the text of the message:

Members of the Senate and the House of Commons of Canada: "I thank you with a full heart for the loyal and affectionate terms of your address, which was presented to me by the Prime Minister of Canada at St. James Palace on the historic occasion of May 8, when the representatives of all my Dominions gathered to greet the Queen and myself and to offer us their united congratulations and good wishes. "So long as we live the Queen and I will never forget that unique and wonderful occasion and the loving words spoken by Mr. Bennett and by those who followed him. "In my reply I endeavored to express the thoughts that filled my heart—thoughts of thankfulness, of pride in all my peoples and of gladness that their representatives were gathered together to greet us in our home in the spirit of the family. "Your address recalls the eventful years through which we have passed; the years of war followed by years of economic difficulty and distress. History will never forget how my people of Canada stood side-by-side with all my other peoples when danger assailed us. "At this time of thanksgiving, let us not forget those maimed or widowed by war, or those who are suffering from unemployment in these anxious years of peace. "It is only by mutual help that depression can be fought, opportunity created, and progress achieved."

EVENTFUL YEARS
The King gave a thrill to the huge crowd when, half-way through the ceremony, he stopped and gave a salute to the Queen. Queen Mary, who previously was driven to the Horse Guards Parade in an open carriage, accompanied by the Duchesses of York and Kent and the former's daughters, Elizabeth and Margaret Rose, watched the ceremonies from a window of the Home Office.

LOYAL EXPRESSIONS
Cries of "God bless you, Sir!" and "Long May You Live!" went up from the cheering crowds as His Majesty rode by.

IS ADVOCATE OF STABILIZATION
French Minister Suggests International Agreement On Currency

PARIS, June 3 (CP-Havas).—Francis de La Rocque, French Minister of Finance, suggested today in favor of an international monetary stabilization conference as an aid to world economic recovery. The new Bonaparte Cabinet will go before the Chamber of Deputies tomorrow for the first time, virtually assured of an immediate vote to give to the sweeping decree-powers it deems essential for defence of the franc and stabilization of France's economic and financial position.

SUGGESTS AGREEMENT
"Commercial reconstruction is one of my first problems," M. Caillaux told an interviewer. "It would be made much easier if the world's principal currencies, apart from the franc, could be stabilized by agreement in the near future." He added that he had no authority to call such a congress himself.

The changes will be made immediately effective, it is understood.

Vancover Rooming House Proprietor Is Mysteriously Slain
John Robertson Shot to Death by Unknown Assassin—Police Have Few Definite Clues—Robbery Not Motive of Attacker

VANCOUVER, June 3 (CP).—Police had a few definite clues and no idea of a motive to work on as they attempted tonight to find a solution to the murder of fifty-four-year-old John Robertson, who was found at the bottom of a flight of stairs leading to his downtown rooming house, dying from a bullet wound in his chest. Robertson was dead when he was admitted to the hospital and police had no indication as to who his assailant may have been. The guest register indicated a man had registered late last night, but the room allotted him had not been occupied and he was being sought today for questioning.

Roomers in the house, the North Star Rooms, stated they had heard voices as if Robertson were renting a room. They said they later heard a noise like that of a shot and heard the landlord shout. When they investigated, they found Robertson lying at the foot of the stairs. A pool of blood inside the door of Robertson's room indicated it was there that he had been shot. A trail of blood led to the top of the stairs, apparently left as the landlord attempted to follow his assailant.

Robbery was not the motive for the slaying as $26 in bills and some silver were found in the man's pockets.

PREPARES TO ACT QUICKLY

Roosevelt to Build on Wreckage of NRA—Intentions Not Announced

WASHINGTON, June 3 (AP).—President Roosevelt, after a period of some confusion for the New Deal, tonight determined to initiate swift action tomorrow to build some structure on the wreckage of NRA. The White House, late today, announced the summoning tomorrow of a special Cabinet meeting, to be followed by a special meeting of Cabinet members and Congressional leaders, capped by a special press conference at which the President will announce his plans.

WIDE SPECULATION
Aside from a disclosure the extraordinary series of conferences would center on NRA, presidential aides were silent. There was wide speculation, however, that Mr. Roosevelt had decided upon some action designed to perpetuate the principles of the recovery agency, rendered defunct by the United States Supreme Court's ruling a week ago today.

A few minutes before the White House issued its call, Donald R. Richberg, NRA head, let it be known the elaborate Blue Eagle administrative organization was to be maintained regardless of the Recovery Act's automatic expiration on June 30. President Roosevelt had told him, he said, the 3,400 employees were not to be separated from the payroll.

HAVE NEW CLUE TO KIDNAPPERS

Abandoned Tan Sedan Found—Northwest Gang Now Blamed

TACOMA, June 3 (AP).—An abandoned automobile in Seattle was revealed tonight as a vital clue in the Government's relentless drive to track down the kidnapers, now indicated as being members of a Northwest gang. The car, a tan sedan, is owned by F. Rodman Tibbitt, uncle of George, who was said by the nine-year-old boy to have paid the $200,000 ransom which freed him.

Sources close to the family had said that when Tibbitt paid the ransom in an isolated night, contact with the kidnapers, they had taken his car, forcing him to walk back.

NUMBERS ARE IMPORTANT
An imposing list of banknote serial numbers became another important factor in the search, from which the names of Midwest Karpis-Barker mobsters faded through sudden developments in St. Paul, Minn.

Volney Davis, henchman of the notorious Karpis, charged guilty in press, had been charged with conspiracy to kidnap Edward G. Bremer, who paid $200,000 for his release. Davis, identified by numerous people as resembling a man seen here about the time George was kidnapped, had no connection with the Karpis-Barker case. Federal authorities said they were convinced. They added that Davis, arrested in Chicago, had been in that area the entire week of the kidnapping here.

VANCOUVER, June 3 (CP).—Struck by a truck at Nineteenth Avenue and Main Street today, Gracyn Broome, aged four, was killed instantly and her six-year-old brother, Bobby, was injured seriously. BOY DROWNED IN SWIMMING HOLE

George Holmes, of Nanaimo, Loses Life Before Young Brother's Eyes

NANAIMO, June 3.—George Holmes, age fourteen, son of Charles Holmes, head of the B.C. Forestry Department here and president of the Canadian Legion, was drowned in a swimming hole in the Millstream a short distance from Nanaimo Auto Park this afternoon. His younger brother aged nine years witnessed the tragedy and his calls of distress brought to the scene Norman Griffith, who managed to get the body out. Dr. C. C. Brown worked for more than an hour, but failed to revive the boy.

WAS SWIMMING ACROSS

According to the story told Constable Jacklin of the Provincial Police, who was summoned to the scene of the accident, George Holmes told his younger brother to cross the Millstream lower down where the water is shallow, while he swam across. When David reached the swimming hole from the opposite side he saw his brother George struggling and he cried for help.

TURBULENT seas of flood water rolled irresistibly over fertile farm valleys of several parts of the Western United States and Mexico last night, marking a lengthening trail of death and property destruction. A new account of at least 122 deaths in cloudburst-bed floods that swept the Valley of Mexico came from Mexico, D.F., as relief workers counted a toll of nearly 200 lives in Nebraska and Kansas in unprecedented rampages of rivers and swift-striking tornadoes.

GREAT LINER WINS RIBBON

Normandie Arrives at New York Setting Records on Maiden Voyage

NEW YORK, June 3 (CP).—Normandie, newest, biggest and fastest queen of the seas, came to New York, a June bride, on a day bright and hazy by turns. As the Normandie crawled gently toward the dock especially built to accommodate her length and not yet finished, it was seen the shoreline for blocks and the roofs of all buildings between Fourth and Forty-Seventh Streets were packed with a solid mass of thousands.

REISTS IN TRIUMPH

After an hour of shoving and hauling, tugs got their charge alongside the dock and the Normandie gave a gentle pull on her hawsers and rested with two deep throats roars of triumph. She had won the Atlantic blue ribbon as her prize on her maiden voyage, the fastest ever made by a trans-Atlantic liner. Averaging officially 29.68 knots from Southampton to Ambrose Lightship, the Normandie surpassed the 28.92-knot record set by the Italian liner Rex on a run from Gibraltar.

PRINCE GEORGE, June 3 (CP).—Sam Stevens, a blacksmith, is in hospital suffering from a possibly fractured skull, and Herman George Groth, a farmer, is held by police under a charge of assault.

Groth took a team of horses to Stevens to be shod and when he returned to get them the blacksmith demanded payment before he would let the horses leave the shop. Groth, it is alleged, became enraged and struck Stevens on the head several times with a hammer.

MOUNTAIN PEAK BURSTS ASUNDER

Fall of Pulverized Earth Turns Daylight to Darkness—Toll of Earthquake Is 40,000

KARACHI, India, June 3 (AP).—A mountain peak near Quetta burst with a terrific roar during yesterday's earthquakes, terrifying the survivors of last Friday's disaster, in which more than 40,000 persons were estimated to have been killed.

The peak, which served as a landmark, cracked wide open, sending up a pall of pulverized earth which hung in the sky for several hours, turning daylight into darkness.

At Quetta, it was believed at least 20,000 bodies still lay in the wreckage left by the earthquake, but officials announced "There is no hope of rescuing any more living."

ITALIAN AUTHORITIES CHARGE ATTACK BY ARMED ETHIOPIANS

Say Thirty Troops Killed and Several Thousand Head of Cattle Stolen—Italian Press Makes Bitter Attack on Great Britain for Furnishing Encouragement to Ethiopia

ROME, June 3 (AP).—A "nucleus of armed Ethiopians" attacked and killed thirty native Italian troops and stole several thousand head of cattle on May 31 in the Danacali region, Italian authorities charged tonight in an official statement.

The authorities asserted the Ethiopian attack was made against a "small post of native gendarmes placed by us for the protection of the native population along the Eritrean frontier."

Their statement charged that on the same day some thirty armed

Ethiopians tried to shoot their way into the Italian military zone near Gubeli in Italian Somaliland, but were repulsed with undetermined losses.

REPUSED BY COLONIALS. The latter attack, officials said, was repulsed by Italian colonial troops known as "Dabats."

The statement said concerning the Danacali affair the commander of the zone will take "opportune measures" for defence.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning

If you feel sour and sick and the world looks black, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your sour and out of humor is that your liver is not flowing freely, your bile is not doing its job. It just stagnates in the bowels. It sits up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blotches. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely. But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Beware of substitutes. 25c at drug stores. ©1931 C. M. Co.

Memorial by a Canadian Sculptor

Fourteen years ago the Canadian Battlefields Memorial Commission invited sculptors of the British Empire to submit designs for a Canadian War Memorial to be built on Vimy Ridge, captured by Canadian soldiers on April 12, 1917, and never lost. A Torontonian, Walter Allward, now residing in London, entered the competition and was awarded the commission. Next Summer his poetically beautiful memorial to Canadian heroism is to be unveiled at Vimy Ridge. Above are shown in (1) a model of the memorial, a mother mourning her dead at the foot of twin pylons reaching for the sky with the aspirations and ideals of French and Canadian youth, and the sculptor, Walter Allward (2). STARTING TREK TO THE CAPITAL

Relief Camp Strikers Have $1,500 and Expect to Collect En Route

VANCOUVER, June 3 (CP).—Relief camp workers from British Columbia camps, some 2,600 of whom have been on strike since April 4, were scheduled to leave here tonight for Ottawa to press their demands for improved camp conditions and administration other than by the Department of National Defence.

The strikers have $1,500, reported to have been raised in the unauthorized tag day here on Saturday, held despite Mayor G. G. McGee's refusal to permit it. Twenty taggers, arrested when they refused to desist from their efforts to raise funds, will appear in court tomorrow.

Strike officials stated that they anticipate other collections will add to their funds as they proceed east. They planned to start the long march tonight, one party traveling via Edmonton and Saskatoon and the other by way of Calgary and Regina.

The strikers have also obtained a truck, which will be used to transport food and cooking utensils and first-aid kit. "They hope other parties of relief workers will join them at various points along the route."

nity for work increased, and happiness and prosperity restored.

"Your address speaks also of the changes in political relations that my reign has witnessed. Of my many causes for gladness there is none greater than that. While the bounds of freedom and self-government have been enlarged, so that Canada and the other Overseas Dominions have now attained the fullest nationhood, yet they remain united by a common allegiance to the Crown, and the ties of friendship and brotherhood stand fast as never before.

A SIGNAL EXAMPLE

"I rejoiced that my Silver Jubilee has afforded a signal example of that family feeling. Let us keep that spirit and together fulfill that great task that is laid on all the nations of the British Empire, to hold high the ideals of service, liberty and peace.

"I am touched by the kind and affectionate words in which you refer to the Queen, who throughout my reign has shared my joys and my sorrows, my labors and my leisure. I thank you also for your reference to visits by members of my family. Through them I am enabled to keep in close touch with the developments and progress of my peoples overseas.

"I thank you for your prayers, and I pray the blessing of Divine Providence may rest on my people of Canada and give them happiness and peace.

Distinction Gained in Varied Fields Brings Mark of Royal Favor

King's Honors are Conferred on Many Famous Figures of Art, Literature and Science in Various Parts of British Empire

LONDON, June 3 (CP).—Tokens of royal favor, honors of varying degrees, were awarded by the King today to many of his subjects throughout the Empire who have attained distinction in different fields.

Conferred upon the occasion of the King's birthday and the Silver Jubilee, the awards went to famous figures in the artistic, literary and scientific worlds. Honored with them were persons who had rendered valuable service in business, government and kindred spheres.

NEW TITLES CONFERRED

Those conferred in the United Kingdom gave three persons the Order of Merit, made one a viscount, created three privy councillors, six new barons and forty-six new knights.

Included in the honors awarded elsewhere in the Empire were five knighthoods for Australians and one for a New Zealander.

To Canada went nine knighthoods and one promotion to a higher rank of knighthood.

The Order of Merit was conferred upon John Masfield, poet laureate, in recognition of his eminent position in the world of literature. Dr. Ralph Vaughan Williams, in recognition of his valuable contribution to British music, and upon Sir Frederick Gowland Hopkins for his contribution in the field of chemistry, notably in the discovery of vitamins.

DISTINGUISHED FIGURES

Among distinguished figures entitled to the letters O.M. following their names are James Barrie, David Lloyd George, Earl Jellicoe and George Macaulay Trevelyan.

Lord Bledisloe, who has completed a five-year term as Governor-General of New Zealand, was elevated from the rank of baron to that of viscount.

The three new privy councillors are Clement Richard Attlee, deputy leader of the Labor Opposition in the House of Commons; Leslie Hore-Belisha, Minister of Transport; and Capt. Robert Croft-Bourne, deputy chairman of ways and means of the House of Commons.

The list of new barons included several prominent businessmen. Sir Arthur Balfour, who served in the diplomatic corps and on various industrial committees during and after the war, is well known in the steel industry. Edward Charles Grenfell has been a Conservative member of Parliament, representing the City of London, since 1922.

WAS HIGH SHERIFF

Sir William Mason, created a baronet in 1918, was high sheriff of Somersetshire in 1928-9. Sir George Ernest May since 1932 has been chairman of the import duties advisory committee.

Sir Frederick Ponsonby has served three Royal households. For the last seven years of Queen Victoria's reign he was assistant keeper of the privy purse and assistant private secretary. He held the same offices under King Edward, and was equerry and assistant private secretary to King George in 1910-12. Sir Olive Wigram since 1931 has been private secretary and equerry to the King.

Fire Destroys Old Homestead Near Elk Lake

One of the oldest houses at Elk Lake, erected forty years ago by William Auekland, who cleared a tract of land in the virgin forest there and planted the "Great Little Cherry Orchard," was completely destroyed by fire yesterday afternoon. No one was in the house at the time.

The blaze apparently started inside the house, and when first seen shortly after 3 o'clock, the entire building was aflame. When Saanich firemen were summoned, the four-roomed hamlet was a roaring furnace. Working with a portable pump, firemen drew water from the lake to fight the fire and save adjoining buildings.

B.C. Archives Will Portray Pioneer Life

For erected by the Hudson's Bay Company at Victoria, Nanaimo, Rupert and Langley are to be featured, together with early photographs of their buildings, stockades and bastions. Diaries and trading books kept by chief factors, in some cases, will add to the value of the display. Dr. Kaye Lamb, Provincial Archivist, has intimated.

BRIDGE BIDS COMING SOON

Tenders on Fraser Structure Returnable-Within Week To Government

Tenders on British Columbia's proposed new toll bridge over the Fraser River, at New Westminster, returnable on June 10, will be in the hands of the Government within a week from today.

Bids called for on main and subsidiary contracts by the Fraser River Bridge Company, Limited, as agents for the Province, will be opened in public by Hon. F. M. MacPherson, according to undertakings given in the Legislature from Government benches.

AWAITING APPROVAL

Meanwhile the Province is awaiting approval of the final site and plans of the proposed bridge from Federal authorities, in negotiations being conducted between Mr. MacPherson for the Provincial Government, and J. P. Forde, district engineer for the Dominion Department of Public Works.

Under the terms of tender advertised, only firms with steel fabricating plants in the province may compete on the main contract. It is unofficially believed that that provision may limit tenders on the main undertaking to possibly two firms, including the Dominion Bridge Company and the Western Bridge Company, the latter a subsidiary of the Hamilton Bridge Company. Within the main contract tenders for various portions of the work are being called for on a unit basis.

ONE OF THE REASONS

Under legislation amended at the last session, the Government is authorized to expend $2,000,000 on the undertaking, by borrowing on the credit of the Province. One of the reasons tenders were called now, it has been officially explained, is that the Government wishes to demonstrate that the bridge can be built within the limits of the loan authorized.

The manner in which the actual money is to be raised has not yet been announced, though the Government in all recent references to the question has expressed confidence that no difficulty will be encountered on that head.

society, prior to the lecture, told how the society had extended its co-operation to the Fairbridge Farm School, being established at Cowichan. The parent society in London, he said, was helping to finance the cost of one of the cottages, and the local society had decided to assist in the plan.

ANSWERS TO 6 PUZZLING QUESTIONS ABOUT Southern California

(WHICH YOU CAN EASILY VISIT WITHIN A 2-WEEKS VACATION AND AN ORDINARY BUDGET)

1. How is it that I can visit Southern California satisfactorily in a 2-weeks vacation?

Counting the week-ends, you have 16 days. You can have a choice of transportation methods and still have at least 12 days here.

2. Even so, how can the average person afford it?

Because of drastic reductions in transportation costs and lower living costs here (18% under the U.S. average) it need cost no more than most ordinary vacations.

3. Can a place that's warm in winter really be comfortable in summer?

The U.S. Government's own figures show Los Angeles' average summer temperature is only 69.4 degrees. There's no summer rain and you'll sleep under blankets.

4. Why did the movies choose Southern California?

Because the sun shines 355 days out of 365, and within 200 miles of Hollywood they can find virtually every type of scenery in the world: Alps, South Seas, Riviera, Old West, Black Forest, English countryside, etc., etc.

5. Why is a Southern California vacation different from any other?

Because of the unique combination of contrasting attractions: Broad ocean beaches and towering mountains side by side. The highest (Mt. Whitney) and the lowest (Death Valley) points in the United States. A glacier and semi-tropical vegetation, palms, orange groves, avocados. A surprising variety of sports, such as deep-sea fishing, mountain climbing, swimming, sailing, auto-racing, polo, golf, tennis, riding, and many more. The modern gaiety of sophisticated Hollywood alongside crumbling Spanish Missions older than the United States. Unique resort cities like Pasadena, Long Beach, Glendale, Beverly Hills, Santa Monica and Pomona.

WOULD CLOSE REFORM HOME

Dean Quainton Suggests Abolition of Provincial Industrial Institution

Abolition of the Provincial Industrial Home, on the grounds it does not reform, and the application of the Borstal system to Canadian penal institutions were advocated by Very Rev. C. S. Quainton, Dean of Columbia, in a public address here last night on "Impressions of the Pen." Dean Quainton was speaking of the impressions he gained while on a week's mission in the Federal penitentiary at New Westminster recently.

In connection with the closing of the Industrial Home, the Dean said that it did not reform and former wards of the institution were finding their way to Oakalla, the Provincial Jail and to the Westminster Penitentiary. In its place, he declared, he would have a series of cottages presided over by matrons, or masters. He stated the time would come in his opinion when the Borstal system would be applied in the Dominion.

One of the greatest drawbacks to the re-establishment of the released convict, the Dean said, was the inability of the freed man to secure work, fellowship and a life of Christianity for the continuation of the reform work carried on inside penal institutions. The Dean referred to the necessity of a new system of classification of prisoners and segregation of first offenders from hardened criminals; opportunity of prisoners to keep in closer touch with their families and better clothing on release.

Dean Quainton gave a description of the life inside prison walls, with its "locks everywhere and the sound of jangling keys." It was like entering a new world to visit inside the penitentiary which, he said, was clean enough to satisfy the most scrupulous housewife. He paid a high tribute to the warden, Col. Meighen, whom he described as a rigid disciplinarian, but a "kind and a humane man" from whom he expected a great deal in the way of prison changes. He stated he would be very much surprised if Col. Meighen became a slave to officialdom. Already a number of changes had been made in the prison routine for the welfare of the prisoner in both mind and body.

PROBLEMS IN CRIME

The four great problems in crime were classified by Dean Quainton as "sex, money, drink and personal relationships" and these he said, "apply to you and I as well as to prisoners." During his mission Dean Quainton had a total of forty-three personal interviews with prisoners and, as a result, he had learned that a great percentage of the crime could be traced back to a defective home life. In his addresses to the men in the chapel, the Dean said he gave them very little of explicit theology and talked to them of life and called "a spade a spade."

Concerning the spiritual reclamation of prisoners inside the institutions, Dean Quainton referred to the work of the Oxford Group Movement. "You cannot find a better way to approach these men than through the Oxford Group and I do not know of a better way in which the layman can assist in the work of reforming criminals," the Dean asserted.

The Dean's address was a serious review of life in a prison, but he gave a number of amusing incidents connected with his individual contacts with some of the prisoners and also gave humorous descriptions of some of the characters. For the most part, the address embraced the spiritual approach to the man inside.

The matter was discussed at some length, after which the committee was asked to continue in office until after the report of the royal commission dealing with the relief camp situation had been presented and printed, when a special meeting of the association will be called. The committee was thanked for its work.

During the meeting a deputation from the Women's League on Social Justice waited upon the members and presented their views.

Lawyer Takes Evidence

MR. ALBERT ANDREWS In a statement, made before a lawyer, Mr. Andrews, 88 Main St., St. Catharines, tells how Fruit-a-tives completely rid him of indigestion. He says he suffered for months. I could not eat or drink without pain and gas. I tried many remedies without success. Then I read of Fruit-a-tives and tried them. My first box of Fruit-a-tives gave wonderful results and after a few weeks I was completely rid of all pain. Now I eat anything and feel fine all the time.

Fruit-a-tives have helped thousands as they helped Mr. Andrews. But then they are really different. The discovery of a famous Canadian doctor, Fruit-a-tives contain extracts of apples, oranges, figs, prunes and herbs. Acting on the liver and intestinal tract, they help the kidneys to normal, healthy action. If you suffer from indigestion, constipation or kindred ills, try Fruit-a-tives. You'll be amazed how much better they'll soon make you feel.

Copy of Mr. Andrews complete legal statement will be sent on request. Write Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

He convinced Clarence Howk (center), president of New Jersey Beekeepers, and Elmer Carr that the bees won't sting, but Dr. Dyce, of the Ontario Agricultural College, states there is nothing new or novel about it all since Canadian breeders have bred queen bees along this line for the past forty years.

HOLIDAY DRAWS MANY OUTDOORS

Long Week-End Gives Hundreds Opportunity to Spend Vacation at Resorts

The weather was in a good mood over the week-end so that hundreds of persons availed themselves of the King's birthday, which occurred yesterday, to spend a long week-end vacation at their summer cottages, either in the mountains, at some lake side, or at the seashore.

All courts, real estate offices, banks, city and municipal halls, and the Legislative Buildings were closed yesterday, although the stores remained open during the usual hours. Thousands of school children were given a holiday, so that the beaches were thronged with picnickers. The University School held its annual track and field meet, while softball games in the various city parks drew their usual followers. Mixed foursome tournaments were held at the Colwood and Oak Bay golf courses.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce conducted an excursion to Salt Spring Island, where an exhibition was held. A fine programme of entertainment was arranged for the occasion.

JUNE SITTING OPENS TODAY

B.C. Court of Appeal Will Hear Petitions Here in Criminal and Civil Cases

The British Columbia Court of Appeal opens at the Courthouse here this morning with a long list of cases to be disposed of, which promises to keep the court busy up to the time of the commencement of the long vacation of the courts, early in July.

As a prelude to the hearing of the appeals set down for the sitting here, there are judgments in about half a dozen appeals carried over from the former sitting in Vancouver, which will probably be handed down, before the review of the new appeals is entered upon.

There are fourteen criminal appeals on the list for the June sitting. These will have the right of way at the hands of the members of the court. There are the usual number of appellants under this heading who will plead their own cause.

COME IN GROUPS

The method adopted by the court of disposing of these cases is to have a few of the convicted men brought at a time from the penitentiary or from the provincial jail and hear their representations, setting out reasons why they should not be kept in prison or why their terms of imprisonment should be cut down. In this way less trouble is imposed upon the Provincial Police in handling the men.

In addition to these appellants, there are also a number of cases arising out of the morality "clean-up" in the city of Vancouver, which accounted for quite a few convictions, from which appeals are being taken. At the head of this class stands Joe Coloma, with two convictions from which he has entered appeals. These cases will be argued by counsel and may be expected to take considerable time.

ENJOYING WORLD AS PLAYGROUND

Mr. and Mrs. James McMaster Left Scotland Three Years Ago on Extensive Trip

"We are just tramps and are enjoying vagabonding our way around the world. We have been away from our home in Scotland for three years and have recently visited Australia and New Zealand," remarked James McMaster, yesterday, at the Metropolis Hotel, in speaking of his wife and himself.

Mr. and Mrs. McMaster look little like the "lowly tramp" both being well dressed in travelling clothes and enjoying the best of health.

When asked in what city they called their home, Mr. McMaster laughingly replied, "England." When pressed further for an answer, he declared he and Mrs. McMaster had been away from "home" so long they had forgotten where it was. The visitors plan on staying in the city several days as they are delighted with the beauties here. From Victoria they will go to Seattle, then across the continent to the Atlantic, where they will board a liner for home.

Acknowledgement of donations received during the month of May was made yesterday by Capt. Burgess J. Gladsden, manager of the Sunshine Inn.

The donations are as follows: Anonymous, $5; Anonymous, $20; the Naval Veterans' Branch, No. 42, Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L., $25; John A. Grant, $5; G. K. $10; Miss E. Crossley, $1; W. $10; Miss Sheffield, $25; Joseph North (through sale of Victoria Day programmes), the total net sum of $277.90; Major E. A. Henderson, $1; and E. E. Hardisty, $2.

In making acknowledgement, Captain Gladsden stated: "I wish to report that there will be a surplus of approximately $134 of cash receipts over cash disbursements during the month of May. My report for the month of April gave a deficit during the said month of $126.36. A total of 3,403 meals was provided during May, and no distinction, whatever, was made with respect to single men eligible for the relief camps, and there is a considerable proportion of them represented in the above total, I think," he said.

BIRTHDAY HONORS

The nine Canadians who have been knighted in the King's Birthday Honors have been singled out for a variety of reasons. There will be general commendation of the selection for they are all men who have been, in some way or other, very much in the public eye for the services they have rendered the country. The most prominent of them is Sir E. W. Beatty, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company. Perhaps no name stands out more forcibly in the country as one that His Majesty should delight to honor, for his services have been great and his ability is recognized by everyone. Sir Herbert Marier's honor is one that goes to Canada's Minister to Japan, Major-General Sir J. H. MacBrien is head of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, and in the processes of increasing that force and the new duties that have fallen to its task he has shown organizing ability of merit. Higher education is recognized in the elevation to knighthood of Sir J. C. McLennan, professor emeritus of Toronto University. Politics has recognition in the person of Sir Thomas Chaplin, a Senator of Quebec. The development of the art of music in the country finds knighthood going to Sir Ernest Campbell MacMillan, who is Dean of Music at Toronto University, and literature is honored in the person of Sir Charles G. D. Roberts. It is a tribute to the work of the Civil Service of the Dominion that Sir Arthur George Doughty should now enjoy the honor of knighthood. As Dominion archivist he won recognition all over the country for the manner in which his duties were discharged. The ninth knighthood coming to Canada goes to Sir E. W. Grier, of Toronto.

The minor honors are widely distributed. Even the most bitter opponent of the King's recognition of his subjects throughout the Empire, or as it may be in Canada particularly, could not with any reason object to the names of any of those who appear on the Birthday Honor list. The Dominion Government in making the recommendations has exercised a careful choice. So long as honors are distributed in this way there can be nothing but praise for the character of the selection.

THE KING'S ENGLISH

More people can write and speak English today than ever before, but fewer people than in years gone by can write and speak the best English. In the art of conversation there is great slovenliness in speaking, while in writing the effort to attain speed, and the fact that almost everyone now-a-days thinks he can write, has led to an output of prose about 1 per cent of which represents really good English. The trouble is that in speaking, there is by far too great volubility, and in writing too little painstaking care given to the actual meaning of words. Slang and clipped sentences are other features which jar on the sensibilities of those who like euphonious diction whether in the spoken or written word.

How many realize, who have heard His Majesty on the air or have read his speeches as they are afterwards appeared in the press, that they are being treated to examples of noble English prose? At the opening of Parliament the King's Speech is the expression of his Government's views. It is not written by himself. When, however, he sends personal greetings to his people, as at Christmas-time or on the occasion of his Silver Jubilee message and his address to the Houses of Parliament recently assembled at Westminster Hall, they are his own composition, and when they are they reveal him as a master of simple, forthright and cultured language. It was Mr. George Bernard Shaw, usually an iconoclastic critic, who pointed out last year that "the best English is literally the King's English. Like his Royal grandmother before him, King George is the best speaker in his realm." Mr. Shaw was particularly alluding to the pronunciation of His Majesty, but what he said is equally true of the diction. It is direct, concise, patently free from any effort at rhetorical effect, and the admirably chosen phrases are pointed with strong, sincere feeling that produces in the listener the sense of emotional satisfaction in the realization that every thought which the emotion has aroused has been adequately expressed. The Royal utterances are distinctly refreshing. They are the outpourings of disciplined thought and the expressions of sincerity and faith. The hall mark of what the King's English should be has been stamped on it by His Majesty.

MR. ROBERT BAIRD

All those who knew the late Mr. Robert Baird, Deputy Minister of Municipal Affairs in the Provincial Government, knew him as one intensely conscientious in his duties and possessed of a clear insight of the tasks belonging to his office. He had been greater provincial supervision over municipal affairs throughout the Province, and the work of looking after their finances entrusted to Mr. Baird, it is very certain that Vancouver and some other cities would not now be in their present financial straits.

Mr. Baird had been in the service of the Provincial Government for twenty-one years, first as Inspector of Municipal Affairs and then as Deputy Minister. He performed his work with the utmost credit to himself and with great value to the Government. His ability was well illustrated in his annual reports, which were models which a Government could well follow in all its departments. He was always concise and to the point and had the faculty of packing a large amount of information into small compass.

Mr. Baird's death is a very definite loss to the Government. Personally he was a man wholly liked with engaging ways, and one who inspired trust. He possessed tact to a high degree, and whenever, which was often, he acted the role of negotiator in any manner it was certain that the task would be well accomplished. Mr. Baird, in fact, was an asset of strength to the Government, and the position he has left vacant will be one difficult to fill with the same efficiency. To his widow and daughter and other relatives the deep sympathy of a very large circle of friends will be tendered.

A GREAT TENNIS PLAYER

It would appear that Mr. F. J. Perry, the British player, is to dominate the amateur lawn tennis world again in 1935 as he did last year. Last week-end he won the French hard-court championships and was never really extended in any of his matches, although the second and third ranking players of the world were engaged and the entry list comprised the pick of many countries. Mr. Perry it appears is an even greater player than he was last year. A commentator of The London Times describes his stroke play as freer and smoother with a command over drop shot and lob to reinforce attacking drives. He is a player, as well, of great confidence, perhaps at his best in this respect in five-set matches. The ease with which he disposed of Mr. J. H. Crawford in the semi-finals of the French Championship is an ample revenge for a few defeats by the same player in Australia earlier in the year. With players such as Messrs. F. J. Perry and H. W. Austin, the Davis Cup should be retained by England for the third year in succession.

OBSERVATIONS OF MARS

Mars, the planet, was at its nearest to the earth last month and the best view of it for seven years was obtained. Observation disclosed no canals such as are believed to exist on Mars. It is true Mars was 60,000,000 miles away at the time, but viewed through a 20-inch telescope it appeared twice as big as the moon does to the naked eye. The dark markings on the planet stood out very clearly, those markings which are supposed to be vegetation. They stretch for four or five thousand miles. Once those markings were presumed to be oceans, but that belief has been exploded. Mars, like the earth, has Polar caps. The greater part of the planet's surface is a dull pink color that suggests desert, and the planet, as seen through the telescope, is by no means so red as it appears to the naked eye. Nowhere on Mars is there the appearance of mountains. It is the contention that if vegetation exists on the planet it must be of a kind far different to that of earth, because on Mars there is far less oxygen and water vapor than even on our highest mountains, where terrestrial vegetation cannot exist.

The unemployed women of Detroit who are on relief are pickers and choosers. On no account will they wear other than silk stockings. Thirty thousand pairs of cotton stockings ordered for their use are still unworn, and an attempt to dispose of them to unemployed workers at Grand Rapids and Pontiac has also failed. Girls, no matter how hard up, must have silk stockings. They would rather starve than give up silk or rayon hose.

JAPAN AND RUSSIAN OIL

The pressure put upon foreign importers of oil both in Japan and in the client State of Manchukuo is another sign of the anxiety of the Japanese militarists to the supply of oil fuel for their warships and motor-transport in the event of international complications. Hence the Japanese hope that the Soviet Government may sell Northern Sakhalin. It is possible, though by no means certain, that they will agree to this. The Russian share of the island's oil is more useful to their eastern territories than the vast but distant supplies of Baku and the North Caucasian oilfields. On the other hand, the Soviet Government are so anxious to reduce the cause of friction with Japan that they may decide to sell an island which they could not hope to defend in time of war with a superior naval power, even if the development of their Far Eastern province suffers in consequence. But they will not sell it cheaply.—The London Times.

If we would amend the world we should mend ourselves, and teach our children to be, not what we are, but what they should be.—William Penn.

Conscience is the root of all true courage; if a man would be brave let him obey his conscience.

Note and Comment

J. R. B. D.

He who is truly seated in authority does not think security, and not progress, the highest lesson of statecraft. From the summit of power, men no longer turn their eyes upward, but begin to look about them. Aspiration sets only one side of every question; possession, mastery, lower.

The old year is dying; let it die. That seems a hard and callous thing to say, but we believe he was a poet who said it. When any living thing has run its allotted span of life, let it pass, although for sentimental reasons we may lament its passage. Robert Louis Stevenson left to the world some immortal verses on that aspect of life and death. When the bird known as the Blue Eagle was hatched and began to screech and essay its first flights, the eyes of all the people of the nations were upon it, and in the hearts of all those watchers who it well and hoped that it might live and soar to heights from which it could see visions of national and international prosperity. But, alas! the proud bird has fallen from its high estate, and there are few left even in the United States who pay tribute to its short memory.

From such information as we have been able to gather from the newspapers, popular, if not unanimous, opinion seems to be that the best thing to do is to do nothing, but let the discredited bird die. That, of course, is not the view of the President nor of the presidential advisers. Official opinion seems to be that there is life in the Blue Eagle yet, and that if it be taken in hand and scientifically nourished, something may be made of it. General Johnson predicted its death when his directing and controlling hand was cut off and Donald Richberg was nominated for the position of chief adviser to the chief executive. The General was accused of talking too much, a not uncommon weakness in politicians and statesmen in these days when young men see visions and old men dream dreams. Donald was not voluble and vitriolic in speech. He said nothing much, but was believed to think a lot. The President may have thought, in the light of experience, that a man who was slow in speech must be fast in action. But in the hands of Donald the Blue Eagle did not soar. It lost its plumage, and they say it is practically dead. The General has been called back in the hope that he may be capable of accomplishing a miracle in the form of a glorious resurrection.

If it were possible to read the thoughts of Mr. Roosevelt when in consultation with his two chief advisers, the tenor of his thoughts must surely be that it is more tolerable to be king than president. There is a constitutional tradition that the king can do no wrong, because the ultimate responsibility is on his advisers. The experience of the President must engender the thought that he can do nothing right, and none of the responsibility is on his advisers. The King's counsellors must be all of one mind before they tender advice. The President's counsellors are not only divided in mind while offering advice. They are fighting like cats or tom cats about the nature of the advice which should be given. Johnson maintains that he is the only qualified physician and that if he had been permitted to remain at his post the Blue Eagle would still be soaring and the New Deal would be going over with a bang. Richberg says nothing, but the fact is transparent that he cannot act in harmony with Johnson.

The doctors are quarrelling and the patient is languishing. That is the spectacle which moves commentators to say: The Blue Eagle is dying; let it die. It is said the New Deal has accomplished some good, and that that good should not be buried with its bones. That appears to be all which can be said in its favor, for there is no doubt that the good it has done is overbalanced by the ill. A state of business or economic regularity of the sort which found him to be of Old Country calibre. Deferred Satisfaction

With the turning of invention and research into ever wider fields, the day may come when British Columbia wood, with its 4,000 derivatives, and coal, with its 1,500 derivatives, may be put to higher uses than the forced sale of raw logs by export, and the unprofitable marketing of lump coal at a distance.—S. G.

Seeing Things

On Saturday we saw three uncommon sights while prowling about for news. They were two ladies nonchalantly smoking on the rear platform on a No. 1 street car, a cow feeding on a tiny plot of grass at a service station on Cabredo Bay Road, and a motorist driving down Michigan Street reading the morning paper as he bowed along. As Broad Street Bertie, quoting another sage, said: "There is nothing in the world under the sun."—G. B.

Gone But Not Forgotten

Now that the relief strikers are moving eastward with Ottawa as their objective, Mayor McGee, of Vancouver, can afford to indulge in a few chuckles at himself—that is if he is still able to muster up a grin after five months as head of Vancouver's administration. No doubt the strikers' lack of success in the Prairies will be a success and that whole thousands will start from the mainland city. What a break that would be for His Worship.—R. A. G.

Eden Without Snakes

Tourists from the over-sunny South are continually reminding us at this season of the year that "Victoria is a little paradise." But not many of them realize how really modern and up to date our Garden of Eden is. For this is unquestionably the only spot in the world where Adam and Eve have elected to go up in an airship to be together (We are not the historic occasion when our two well-known citizens, James Adam, and Mrs. Eve, the latter a pioneer local aviatrix, made a mile high there. There may have been some discussion about apples that time, too, but if so no serpents being abroad no report was made.)—J. E. M. B.

New Police Methods!

Vancouver is a remarkable city. It is unique. The citizens were told to be happy and to be contented last year about the morals of the town. Reform was demanded in the police department. It has arrived in style. Although they were told that something would be done about crime, they were hardly prepared for the frank admission in police court the other day that the taxpayer's money was being used by the new police regime to provide automobiles for alleged criminals to carry away their loot from stores that had been pillaged. Yes, Vancouver is a remarkable town!—B. A. M.

No Doubt About It

When you earn the unqualified tribute of the natives you do business with over a period of years and they get to designate you in their "wah-wah" as being "typical Kinky," there is a reason. In English it means "they don't make 'em any better." George Woollett, who in future will extend himself as "Mine Host" of Cameron Lake Chalet, a lovely spot by the way, undoubtedly came by the Bishwappellation honestly, and there's no doubt but that he will live up to the full English significance of it as long as he continues to manage the Up-Island hostelry.—F. M. K.

UNDERWATER GRAIN ROUTE

Arctic Explorer to Seek Way From Hudson Bay to Europe

BOSTON, June 3 (CP).—Sir Hubert Wilkins hopes to start some time this year on a new submarine exploration trip in search of a "practical commercial route" for shipment of Canadian grain from Hudson Bay to Europe by way of the Arctic.

The veteran explorer and authority on the Arctic's frozen reaches made this known before sailing from here Sunday with Mrs. Wilkins aboard the Italian liner Conte Grande.

Sir Hubert did not enlarge on the wheat route he visions. He did make known, however, that he is bound for Germany, from where he expects to return to this continent with his wife in a new dirigible balloon he described as now under construction.

NOT FEASIBLE

WINNIPEG, June 3 (AP).—Use of a submarine for transporting grain to Europe from Churchill, Manitoba, northern seaport on Hudson Bay would not be feasible, Brig.-Gen. R. W. Patterson, president of the On-to-the-Bay Association, said here today.

Comments on reports from Boston that Sir Hubert Wilkins, veteran Arctic explorer, was quoted as saying he hoped to start this year on a submarine expedition to find a "practical commercial route" for shipments of Canadian grain from Hudson Bay to Europe.

Acting Deputy Minister E. Hawken said: "We already have a navigation season through Hudson Straits operating from August 1 to the end of October." He added he had understood Sir Hubert was going to the Antarctic this year.

In December, 1930, Sir Hubert, then preparing for an Arctic submarine expedition, told the Canadian Press in New York he looked forward to a time when specially constructed grain submarines would carry grain from Churchill, Man., under the ice all year around.

OTTAWA, June 3 (CP).—Department of Marine officials declared today they were at a loss to understand a Boston report last night that Sir Hubert Wilkins, veteran Arctic explorer, was quoted as saying he hoped to start this year on a submarine expedition to find a "practical commercial route" for shipments of Canadian grain from Hudson Bay to Europe.

Acting Deputy Minister E. Hawken said: "We already have a navigation season through Hudson Straits operating from August 1 to the end of October." He added he had understood Sir Hubert was going to the Antarctic this year.

Canada's war-time Finance Minister, who is made a Knight Grand Cross of the same order with no change in his formal title, E. W. Flett, K.C., president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, was made a Knight Grand Cross of the Order of the British Empire, in recognition of his public services, educational activities and philanthropy.

TO FOREIGN SERVICE

His Majesty's tribute to the foreign service of Canada was expressed in the creation of Hon. Herbert M. Maclean, Canadian envoy and minister plenipotentiary to Japan, as Knight Commander of the Order of St. Michael and St. George. Literature and science were recognized in Dr. Arthur George Doughty, Dominion archivist, and Dr. J. C. McLennan, professor emeritus of Toronto University, who were made Knights of the Order of the British Empire. Music, art and literature were the award of Knights Bachelor for Senator Thomas Chaplin, Quebec, E. W. Grier, Toronto, and Ernest Campbell Macmillan, dean of music, Toronto University, and principal of the Toronto Conservatory of Music, and Dr. Charles G. D. Roberts, Toronto, one of Canada's best-known writers of prose and poetry.

Major-General J. H. MacBrien, head of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police and holder of an enviable military record, was made a Knight Commander of the Order of the Bath.

WOMEN ARE HONORED

Women figure largely in the list, with thirty honors of various degrees won mainly by long and generous service in social and welfare works or by contributing to Canadian literature.

A notable feature of the birthday awards to Canadians was the inclusion of six names for companionships in the Imperial Service Order, regarded by many as the most prized honor that may be given a civil servant. There may be only 250 members of the public service of the Dominions and Colonies.

Starting as a second lieutenant in the Dufferin Rifles in 1893, Major-General Ashton has been forty-two years with the militia. He organized the 36th Battalion during the Great War and, following command of a reserve brigade and of the Shorncliffe training area, was recalled to Canada to become adjutant-general. Later he served as Quartermaster-General of the Canadian Militia, after which he was appointed District Officer Commanding at Toronto. It was from this post that he was transferred to his present position.

For forty-five years Mr. Davey has been in the customs and excise department in Victoria. His total service with the Dominion Government, however, extends to forty-seven years. He served two years in the postoffice before he transferred to the customs department, where he now holds the position of collector.

Born in Cornwall, England, Mr. Davey has spent fifty-five years of his life in Victoria. He is an active churchman, a member of the Victoria Lawn Bowling Club and the Odd Fellows.

Mr. Duncan has been a resident of this city for the past twelve months, coming to this city when he retired from the post of superintendent of schools in Winnipeg. He has seen forty years' service in the teaching profession. Starting as a classical master in the Winnipeg Collegiate Institute, he later was appointed principal of an elementary school and later to junior and high school staffs.

Just before the Great War he was chosen assistant superintendent of schools, and in 1927 was promoted to the position of superintendent. Since coming here Mr. Duncan has become a member of the Union Club. In Winnipeg he was president of the Rotary Club.

Lillian Barnes Suffers Badly Crushed Foot in Collision Between Auto and Motorcycle

MISS LILLIAN BARNES

Closely watched by Dr. Thomas McPherson, Lillian Barnes, aged seventeen years, 1250 Union Street, lies in Royal Jubilee Hospital suffering from a badly crushed left foot, received Sunday in an accident at Nanaimo. So severe is the injury that amputation may be necessary, medical authorities said.

Miss Barnes suffered the injury when the motorcycle on which she was riding with Jack Summers, 1981 Carrick Street, collided on Halliburton Street with an automobile driven by a Nanaimo resident named Bradshaw, according to reports received from Provincial Police Up-Island.

Mr. Summers is also confined to hospital, but his injuries were reported, last night, as not serious. The accident victims were first treated at Nanaimo Hospital by Dr. George Hall, and some hours later were conveyed by C. & C. Ambulance to the Royal Jubilee Hospital.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Barnes, Miss Barnes is well-known in city athletic circles. She has made a name for herself as a tennis player, and in 1933 won the Junior City championship and claimed the Pooley Cup.

SUGGESTS BOARD TO AID EX-SERVICE MEN

by Hon. Ian MacKenzie (Liberal Vancouver Centre), Hon. D. M. Sutherland, Minister of National Health, declared the Government had not yet decided whether the report would be referred to a special committee. He would give a definite answer tomorrow.

MANY JOBS SUGGESTED
If gold mining operations were carried on extensively, veterans might be employed in clearing land and in surface work. The work of authorized reforestation by the Provincial Governments and pulp and paper companies, says the report, might be suitable for many ex-servicemen. It was also suggested radio licence collectors might be appointed from the lists of partially-disabled veterans.

Establishment of a corps of commissioners in the principal cities of Canada, along lines of similar organizations in the United Kingdom, should be considered by the proposed commission. "If such corps were organized through Canada, most unformed positions might well be filled by ex-servicemen," says the report.

More immediately the report recommends it be specifically laid down in Provincial and Dominion Government contracts for public works that, whenever available, not less than 15 per cent of those employed be ex-servicemen. This proportion should be maintained on all canal, harbor boards or commissions and similar works supported by public funds.

INVESTIGATION SOUGHT

The Hyndman report asks investigation by the Canadian National Railways management into the question of seniority of those employees who received leave of absence to enlist, on their return, found their posts filled with men junior to them. At the same time, the Postmaster-General is asked to inquire into complaints that the veteran preference is not being fully observed in some post-offices. Complaint was also made that some employees, in addition to their part-time postoffice positions, were engaged in private occupations, and so that during rush periods the permanent part-time employees were not given the

Victoria's Historic Spots

HOME OF LATE HON. DR. J. S. HELMCKEN

THIS well-kept and unassuming home on quiet Elliot Street, near the Legislative Buildings and next to the site of the house of Sir James Douglas, was the residence of the late Hon. Dr. John Sebastian Helmcken.

Born in London on June 5, 1825, Dr. Helmcken arrived here aboard the Norman Morrison in March, 1850, with eighty pioneer immigrants. He was surgeon and magistrate at Fort Rupert and later Hudson's Bay Company surgeon at Fort Victoria. On December 27, 1852, he married Cecilia Douglas, daughter of Sir James, and on August 12, 1856, was appointed Speaker of the First Assembly of Vancouver Island. His bed, books, records and personal relics are preserved intact in a room in the venerable house.

Dr. Helmcken was one of the diverse men who went to Ottawa to help frame terms of the act which resulted in the entry of British Columbia into the Dominion of Canada in 1870, and was an important factor in the building up of British Columbia. After a long and useful career, he passed away in September, 1920, at the age of ninety-six years, having seen Victoria grow from a small fort to a thriving city.

temporary full-time jobs which developed. In the matter of unemployment assistance to small pensioners, the report makes sixteen recommendations. It discussed Imperial veterans.

"The department at present grants relief to an Imperial pensioner who is in need of same, provided he was domiciled in Canada prior to December 1, 1924. We are recommending this date be extended to January 1, 1935. With regard to the Imperial non-pensioners it was strongly urged upon us that having served in the common cause and being now citizens of Canada, they should be treated on the same basis as Canadian veterans," says the report.

"After much consideration we are recommending Imperial non-pensioners, if domiciled as above, who served in a theatre of actual war, should receive the same treatment as Canadian veterans who served overseas in so far as relief is concerned."

The report regards the term "relief" as opprobrious when applied to veterans, and asks it be changed to "unemployment assistance."

It asks that, so far as veterans' unemployment assistance is concerned, the present voucher system be discontinued and cash payment substituted. Unemployment assistance issued by the department to veterans should not be less than the relief issued to the civilian population in the municipalities in which they reside. The maximum basic rate of the department should be equivalent to $15.50 a month for a man with one dependent, $15.50 for a man with two dependents, $19.50 for a man with three dependents, and an additional $3 a month for each dependent in excess of three.

Deductions from unemployment assistance should not be made in the case of 5 per cent disability pensioners; in the case of one member of the pensioner's family earning not more than $40 a month; casual earnings up to $10 a month, and earnings derived from seasonal employment in the postoffice, not exceeding thirty days in all.

Non-pensioners who receive from their municipalities relief less than the departmental rates should have the difference made up to them by the department, says the report.

It recommends clothing and medical attention be furnished by the department except in the case of unmarried pensioners without dependents.

VISITING MOTORISTS VIOLATING TRAFFIC RULES TO BE WARNED

Visiting motorists who violate traffic regulations in the business area from today on will be politely informed of their violation by special warning cards that will be placed in their automobiles by city policemen.

Chief Thomas Heatley has supplied his men with these white cards, and they will be used, commencing today. The cards bear the welcome, "Greetings, Friend," and extend best wishes for a pleasant visit. They politely inform visitors of the infringement of the parking rules and advise car owners to secure copies of the chief's traffic guide.

How to Prepare for SAFE SUMMER DRIVING

NOW that Spring is here, we're all looking forward to the warm, pleasant days ahead. But don't forget—warm weather makes a difference to your car, too!

Make sure that the engine now has "summer grade" oil in the crankcase. The transmission and "rear end", too, require a heavier lubricant for safe summer driving. Every chassis fitting should be thoroughly "greased". It's a good idea to give your car a seasonal "tightening-up" at this time—to have the brakes adjusted—and the ignition system checked over.

Timely attention to these inexpensive precautions assures you of dependable, safe motoring this summer.

COMBINES THREE TRAVEL SYSTEMS

Coach, Ferry and Railway Will Make Novel Combination Between Victoria and Vancouver

Through service from Victoria to Vancouver by way of the Vancouver Island Coach Lines, the Sidney-Steveston Ferry and the Steveston-Vancouver Interurban Railway, has been announced for the Summer season, to be effective Saturday, June 15.

This service will fill a long-felt want, inasmuch as it provides a morning trip from Victoria to Vancouver. The Vancouver Island Coach Lines bus leaves the Broughton Street depot at 7:45 a.m., making direct connections, and the passenger arrives in the Mainland city at 12:54 p.m. There is also an afternoon trip, leaving the depot at 3 o'clock and arriving at Vancouver at 7:54 o'clock.

BRITAIN MAKES GERMANY OFFER

Would Seek Her Admission To Projected World Naval Conference

LONDON, June 3 (AP).—Great Britain offered today, well informed circles said, to seek Germany's admission by other powers to the projected World Naval Conference. This step marked the opening of the first naval negotiations since the Reich has undertaken with any nation since the pre-war attempts of the Asquith Government to halt Anglo-German building competition.

IN PRIVATE MEETING

Great Britain's offer was reported made by Premier Ramsay MacDonald and Sir John Simon, Foreign Secretary, in a private meeting with Joachim von Ribbentrop, Adolf Hitler's blond forty-year-old ambassador extraordinary.

Explaining naval treaties require the calling of a new conference of the signatory powers—Great Britain, the United States, Japan, France and Italy—this year, but was under stood London is willing to sponsor an invitation for Germany if the present talks are successful.

From the British viewpoint these can succeed only if Berlin will accept definite limitations on all categories of ships for the new navy—something her delegates were reported to be determined to oppose, instead wanting limitation by global tonnage.

THE FIRST CONTACTS

The usually jovial von Ribbentrop was serious as he made his first contacts with British statesmen this afternoon, including Sir Bolton Eyres-Monsell, First Lord of the Admiralty. The talks will begin officially tomorrow.

FORSTS RADIO ARE CHAMPIONS

NANAIMO, June 3.—After holding a one-nothing lead until four minutes from full time, here on Sunday, South Wellington junior football team were forced into overtime and lost the game—the British Columbia championship and the O. B. Allen Cup—to Forsts Radio team of Vancouver. The first half ended with no score.

Twenty-one minutes after the second period had started, Thomas, for South Wellington, scored. With only four minutes to go, Berwick, left winger for the Radio, sent in a slow, rolling shot which Williams, in goal for the Forsts, fumbled, the ball rolling out of his hands into the net and sending the game into overtime.

Eight minutes after the argument was resumed, Johnson, for Forsts, headed in a long pass from the right wing, and five minutes after the second period had started, a teammate of the same name, Jackie Johnson, scored Forsts' third and the last goal of the game, which was witnessed by twelve hundred and handled by Referee Woodward, of Vancouver.

This is the second year in succession that Forsts have won the provincial championship. Most of the same players also belonged to the Lloyd's Pharmacy, which won the trophy three years ago.

MRS. LOVELL WINS MACAULAY TITLE

Sinking a couple of long puts on the final nine while her opponent was three-putting the odd green, Mrs. O. W. Lovell came from behind to defeat Mrs. C. S. Brown for the women's championship final of the Macaulay Point Golf Club, Sunday, one up. The new champion was one down at the turn but soon squared the match. When she won out on the last green it was the first time during the tussle that she was in the lead. Mrs. Lovell had a card of 95 and Mrs. Brown a 92.

Miss M. Leth was first flight honours from Miss E. Irvine, 2 and 1, and Mrs. H. Bert took the second flight by defeating Miss H. Irvine at the nineteenth hole.

A meeting of the recently-organized Junior Baseball League will be held in The Colonist boardroom tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock. All clubs are requested to have representatives present.

Loose Cash—James McCague reported to police yesterday that he lost some time on Sunday, a brown leather wallet containing a sum of money, approximately $20.

Holiday Observed—All offices at the Legislative Buildings were closed yesterday for the King's birthday. Members of the Government, for the most part, were out of Victoria for the holiday.

Eaton in an address to the New York Academy of Medicine.

The onset of the attack may be sudden or gradual, and the attack so sharply defined that the food causing the disturbance is at once recognized or determined. Irritability particularly while eating, tiredness, overeating, careless cooking may also be partly to blame.

Dr. Eaton mentions some of the symptoms or manifestations of these food allergic attacks affecting the stomach and intestine. They are: Pain over the eyes, pain in back of the head, swelling of the eyelids, lips, tongue and mucous membrane (lining) of the mouth; canker sores, blurring of the vision, fear of pain, nausea, fullness after eating, distension of the abdomen, diarrhoea or constipation, vomiting, pale and flabby skin, dizziness, exhaustion, sweating, cold, flatulence (gas), heartburn, lowered blood pressure and collapse.

I believe most of us know one or more foods that we may like, but which do not like us as the saying goes. We recognize or know these particular foods, but there may be others which we do not suspect. The suggestion is that when we have a bout with one or more of the above symptoms we should think of food allergy and try to find the offending food or foods and leave them out of our diet.

WHAT'S DOING ON THE LOCAL RETAIL PRODUCE MARKET

The first crop of local produce will make its appearance in quantity early next week, it was announced yesterday along wholesale row. Admirable weather conditions have fostered the crop along nicely and within two weeks there will be sufficient local produce to care for the market, it was stated.

Included in the produce due next week from farms surrounding Victoria will be green peas, new potatoes, carrots and beets. Prices were not announced.

Freshly picked Victoria strawberries were produced in quantity early next week and the local wholesalers have ceased importing strawberries from the United States. Local berries were selling at two baskets for 35 cents.

The butter and egg market remained strong and unchanged.

WAS PIONEER OF VANCOUVER

Mrs. Margaret McKelvie Resided for Time in Victoria Some Years Ago

VANCOUVER, June 3.—Another of Vancouver's pioneer citizens has passed away in the person of Mrs. Margaret McKelvie, widow of John McKelvie, who died on Sunday at her residence on Salisbury Drive after a protracted illness.

Mrs. McKelvie was in her eighty-fifth year. She was born in Ireland and came with her parents to Quebec as a small child. She was married at Three Rivers, where her husband was a partner in the large iron works of A. McKelvie & Sons.

Shortly after the establishment of Vancouver and its destruction by fire in 1886, Mr. and Mrs. McKelvie with their two sons moved to the Pacific Coast, where, a few years later, Mr. McKelvie died.

In the earlier years of her residence in Vancouver, Mrs. McKelvie was active in church work, and continued to her death to be interested in the church and in all charitable activities. She was a member of the Pioneer's Association.

For several years shortly after the turn of the century, Mrs. McKelvie was a resident of Victoria, living at the corner of Menzies and Niagara Streets. Three years ago she paid a visit to the Capital City, renewing old acquaintances.

She is survived by two sons, Alex, president of the Canadian-Summer Iron Works, Vancouver, and Harry B., manager of the wholesale tobacco department of Kelly, Douglas & Co., Ltd.; one grandchild and one great-grandchild, as well as a brother, resident in the East. A number of nieces and nephews also survive.

Foreign and Home Work For Missions Reported

Baptist Women's Missionary Society of British Columbia Holding Annual Convention Here — Meetings Will Continue Today

The twenty-first convention of the Baptist Women's Missionary Society of British Columbia opened yesterday morning at the First Baptist Church, Mrs. William Russell, the president, in the chair. Delegates were here from many Mainland and Up-Island points.

Following the meeting of the board, the registration of delegates and a hymn, Mrs. F. W. McKinnon gave the opening prayer. Mrs. Allan J. Slater welcomed the delegates. This was followed by the appointment of committees: Credentials, Mrs. A. W. Mayne and Mrs. F. McNeill; courtesy, Mrs. H. Knox; Mrs. F. W. McKinnon and Mrs. F. Davidson; press, Mrs. W. Dinsmore and Mrs. A. E. Taylor; agenda, Mrs. F. Birkett and Mrs. Selman, and resolutions, Mrs. A. Galbraith, Mrs. Atherton and Mrs. F. Davidson.

The remainder of the morning and part of the afternoon were taken up with the reading of reports, including the programme, by Mrs. A. Slater, in place of Mrs. Morton Hanna, who was unable to attend; board, Mrs. A. H. Marston; treasurer, Mrs. A. J. Welch; finance, Mrs. William Groat, and corresponding secretary, Mrs. A. W. Mayne.

MISSION DEPARTMENT
Mrs. M. H. Mason led the afternoon devotions, and Mrs. R. M. Mc-

Intosh sang a solo, which was much enjoyed.

Mrs. L. C. Pallot, superintendent of the missionary department, read a full and interesting account of this branch of the W.M.S. work. She dealt specifically with the activities in the foreign mission fields, India and Bolivia, where schools and hospitals are being operated under the auspices of the Baptist Church. She also reported for the Christian Canadianization committee, whose work lies among the Japanese, Italian, Ukrainian, Serbian, Russian, Czechoslovakian and Polish settlers in the province.

THE KINDERGARTEN
An important feature of this branch of home mission work was the kindergarten opened in Vancouver, and in this connection the "hour of peace," attended by foreign-born mothers, was having splendid results. Health talks were given at the mission, under-nourished children given extra milk and cod liver oil, and emphasis was laid upon the spiritual side of assistance for the "new Canadians."

Tribute was paid to the work being done by Mrs. Oliver Brown among the Hindu women and children in Victoria, and a group of these little dark-skinned kiddies delighted the delegates at the convention with their singing of hymns in English during the meeting.

KEATS ISLAND CAMP
In the White Cross report, Mrs. Pallot read a list of the articles which are needed for India and Bolivia, and lists will be prepared for distribution among the circles.

A report was read of the Keats Island Baptist Summer Camp, which had been such a success, where leadership training courses and Bible study formed part of the programme.

Mrs. A. Slater read the finance committee's report, and announced that the 1935 budget has been set at $6,000.

MISSIONARY ADDRESS
In the absence of Mrs. L. E. Wilton, who was unable to attend the meeting on account of a recent accident, her husband, Rev. L. E. Wilton, who is on furlough from the Indian mission field, gave a short address, in which he paid glowing tribute to the work of women missionaries. He told of some of the difficulties which have to be encountered, and which are being faced with courage and perseverance. He described the missionaries as "heroines of the foreign missionary enterprise," and in closing, he spoke of the wonderful work of the late Miss Mary Selman.

Pearce was appointed to take charge of the transportation, and Mrs. A. Hood will head the social committee. There will be no meeting during the months of July and August, but the work will be resumed early in September. The National Anthem was sung at the conclusion of the meeting. Tea was served later by Mrs. J. Cochran, Mrs. Featherstone and Mrs. T. Paulson, for which they received a vote of appreciation voiced by Mrs. F. Martling.

Quiet Wedding Is Celebrated At St. John's

The wedding of Muriel Elsie, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Davenport, Quebec Street, and Mr. Gordon Fairbairn Hartley, younger son of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Hartley, Belleville Street, was quietly solemnized yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in St. John's Church. Rev. E. G. Robb, officiating, was assisted by Mr. G. Jennings Burnell, who acted as the organ and played the wedding marches and other incidental music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride made a beautiful picture in a becoming traveling frock of pale blue crepe with a high Medici collar, and blue hat with the brim underlined with pink. She carried an arm bouquet of butterfly roses, lilies of the valley and white sweet peas. She was attended by Miss Kathleen Meldrum, in a lovely frock of deep rose crepe and white hat and shoes, who carried a bouquet of Elizabeth Taylor gladioli and mauve sweet peas. Mr. Dadwell Hartley, of Trail, supported his brother.

RECEPTION HELD

A reception of only near relatives was held later in the Elizabethan room at the Empress Hotel, where the guests were welcomed by the parents of the bride and groom. Mrs. Davenport was dressed in hyacinth blue with a corsage bouquet of butterfly roses and lilies of the valley, and Mrs. Hartley in navy blue, and wore a corsage bouquet of two large roses and lilies of the valley. The refreshment table was centred with the three-tiered cake, which was surmounted by a vase of Columbia roses and was flanked by two large vases filled with Queen Mary perennials.

Mr. and Mrs. Hartley left by the afternoon boat for Seattle, from where they will motor South, and on their return will make their home in Victoria. Among the wedding gifts was a beautiful silver tray from the bride's former associates in the Royal Trust Company, where she had been employed on the staff for the last eighteen months.

Plans Made for Convention Here

A well-attended meeting of the members of the W.C.T.U. of the city was held at the Ida Street Home, with Mrs. Spofford, who was in charge, giving an outline of plans suggested for the W.C.T.U. convention to be held in Victoria in September 17, for three days.

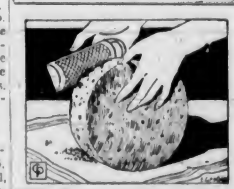

To carry on preparations for this occasion, the following officers and committees were appointed: President, Mrs. John Hall; secretary, Miss G. M. Newell; committee caring for homes for the delegates, Mrs. Holland, Miss Beattie, Mrs. Laing, Mrs. Whiteley, Mrs. Humphrey, Mrs. Sherwood, Mrs. Spofford; Mrs. B. Parsons, to provide music, entertainment for visitors, Mrs. Laing; Mrs. Spofford, press notices.

Tentative plans were made to entertain Mrs. Mahon, Dominion treasurer for the W.C.T.U., on the occasion of her proposed visit to Victoria in the near future.

Three new members were introduced and welcomed by Mrs. Spofford.

The meeting adjourned, a social time was enjoyed, with refreshments served by Miss Wark, hostess, and her staff.

Wife Preservers

Use a grater to take off the burned parts of the cake that was scorched. The frosting will cover the place, and you will not break the rest of the cake in removing the burned part.

Fit pie crust for one crust pie loosely into pan, letting edges extend half an inch over rim. If there is more than that trim off with scissors. Pinch edges with fingers. If you are baking it without filling, prick it all over to allow air to escape and allow crust to keep its shape. When crust bakes it shrinks, and this procedure allows for this fact.

commenced on February 7, 1876, a career that was to carry him to brilliant attainments in a highly specialized field of municipal administration.

His early youth and training were passed in Eastern Canada, shared by six brothers and sisters, some of whom have since died. Between 1899 and 1909 Mr. Baird taught school at Sunderland, before going to the University of Toronto in the latter year, where he took a Master of Arts degree, graduating in 1904.

Between 1904 and 1914 he was identified with the Royal Bank of Canada, rising to the post of assistant manager at one of the Prairie branches. On May 1, 1914, he became the first Inspector of British Columbia municipalities, when that service was created as a branch of the Attorney-General's Department.

Mr. Baird remained as the original inspector of municipalities until the end. In 1934 he was promoted, in addition, as deputy minister of municipal affairs, when the new department was created by the Pelly ministry, under Hon. A. W. Gray, retaining the inspectorate at the same time.

For a number of years past Mr. Baird acted for the Attorney-General in his capacity as committee of the estates of persons in provincial care under the Lunacy Act, a position of great responsibility in which tens of thousands of dollars worth of property were held and invested in trust for those in provincial mental institutions.

Several of his brothers became barristers, one, W. J. Baird being well-known in connection with his former appointment as liquor commissioner for this Province. He died in 1934 in Vancouver, after a brief illness.

While it was for outstanding work as an inspector of municipalities that Robert Baird was chiefly regarded, there are few men who had such a wide range of interests, for who brought more genuine ability and good fellowship to bear on the problems of their daily work. The boys' and girls' tennis tournaments of Victoria High School are fast nearing completion. In the boys' play this week, Morry Edge defeated J. Raife, 6-2, and will enter the quarter-finals. Lucas downed Holstein-Rathbun, 7-5, and will enter the same bracket with Edge. Mabe defeated Holt, 6-0, and then won by default over Fox. He will be matched with Greensmith in the quarter-finals. Greensmith won over Lanigan, 4-1, and will face Mabe. Tuck will oppose Parrott to decide who will enter the semi-finals after winning his second round match from June 5. Jackson automatically entered the semi-finals by his 6-1 victory over Brown.

Virginia "Dena" Graham showed her tennis ability last week when she defeated Anna Pedin, 6-1, and Audrey Homer Dixon, 6-1, and will enter the finals with the winner of the Helen Unsworth-Mary Grey match. To place in the semi-finals, Miss Unsworth downed A. Anderson, 6-3, while Miss Gray gained an easy 6-0 victory over Doreen Beere. The final match will be played this week.

During the past week Miss Mona Miller, Miss Nancy Ferguson and W. A. Roper have been instructing the boys and girls of the school in wand, dumbbell and club drill, folk dancing and pyramid workouts. These enthusiastic practices are last-minute touches on the school's part in the June 5 proceedings at the Royal Athletic Park.

Morry Edge literally made school "colours" history last week when he tied-off for a hole-in-one on the eleventh green in the exciting stu-

Three Runs in Friendly
Cricket Match

Playing in a friendly cricket match yesterday afternoon at MacDonald Park, Terry Peers' eleven defeated a side captained by Hubert Lethaby by three runs. The final scores were: Peers' XI, 71 and 62; Lethaby's XI, 71 and 65.

Darcus batted well for the winners, scoring twenty-five and thirty-five, respectively. G. C. Grant, veteran cricketer, was the leading batsman for Lethaby's eleven, with scores of sixteen and thirty-two.

In the first innings Darcus took six wickets for twenty-five runs, and in the second innings Terry Peers took the same number of wickets for thirty-eight runs.

Bowling honors were fairly well divided on the winning side, with the best performance being displayed by Mitchell, who took three wickets for nine runs in the second innings.

BRUINS BEAT POODLE DOG

Chalk Up 6-5 Score in Softball Fixture—Results of Other Games

TRACK MEET SET

VANCOUVER, June 3 (CP).—The Canadian women's track and field championships will be staged in Montreal on Saturday, August 10. Miss Ann Clark, secretary of the Women's Amateur Athletic Federation, announced today.

Con Stanbury, Canada's professional snooker champion who failed to lift the world title in London, has made a great impression on Scottish enthusiasts. In an exhibition match in Glasgow, the Winnipeg player had breaks of 84, 80, 77 and 75. He won easily virtually every match he played.

Painter's Bruins, undefeated leaders of the "B" Section of the Lower Island Softball Association, continued their mad dash towards the league pennant yesterday evening at Central Park when they nosed out a fighting Poodle Dog nine, 6-5, in a hard-fought battle.

In the other "B" Section fixtures, Navy turned back the Bapco, 14-9, and Kresges took the measure of the lowly Eagles by a 9-7 score.

Pushing over two runs in the initial inning, after their opponents had scored once, Painter's Bruins took the lead and stayed out in front for the remainder of the distance. Each of the clubs scored twice in the third frame, and the eventual winners added two more runs in the fifth. Poodle Dog Cafe drew two runners in the favor in the sixth inning for the last markers of the game.

Score by Innings:

Poodle Dog Cafe	102 002 000—5
Painter's Bruins	202 020 000—6
Batteries—Johnson and Baker; Harris; L. Simpson, B. Simpson and B. Berry.

NAVY WINS

Trailing 8-3 in the fifth inning, the Navy brought their big guns into action in the sixth frame and pushed across eight runs to make the score 11-8 in their favor in the fixture with the Bapco nine at Central Park. The paintmen added one more marker, but the sailors came

PATRIOTIC FILM AT THE DOMINION

"Royal Cavalcade" Follows Fortunes
Of New Penny Through Reign
Of His Majesty

An inspired cavalcade of His Majesty's wonderful twenty-five years' reign is chronicled in "Royal Cavalcade," a feature-length film production designed to commemorate the momentous event of the Silver Jubilee of the reign of King George V. The picture opens at the Dominion Theatre today.

The producers have restaged historic incidents with uncanny realism, the result being a fascinating mosaic of a quarter of a century progress. The film has absorbing human interest, mighty drama and regal pageantry, while the cast includes every important player of the English stage and screen.

cludes every important player of the English stage and screen.

The picture opens with a visit to the Mint, where millions of coins are being stamped with the image of the new King. One of these coins, a bright new penny, reappears on the counter of a London tavern, where King George's health is being drunk by a little group of his subjects. Against an ever-changing background supplied by the current tunes, catch-words and news items that characterized each phase of this eventful quarter century in turn, one follows the fortunes of this 1911 penny right through the reign up to the present day.

COLUMBIA Irene Dunne, star of THEATRE the Warner Bros. picture, "Sweet Adeline," which is now at the Columbia Theatre, is known as "One-Take Dunne." The appellation was pinned on her by Mervyn LeRoy, director of the picture, because not once during her scenes was a retake necessary on account of any mistakes made by the star. She stars in the film, supported by Donald Woods, Hugh Herbert, Ned Sparks, and many other comics.

Dainty Little Dancer to Appear in Revue

ETHEL GILLIS

AMONG the children who will take part in Miss Florence Clough's dance recital on Friday will be Ethel Gillis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Gillis, 1138 Kings Road.

PLAYHOUSE Edward Everett Horton would not now be making film fans hiliarious with his antics in "The Gay Divorcee" now at the Playhouse Theatre, if he could have realized his earlier ambitions. First he wanted to be a baker. Then he tried dentistry. Finally he took a whirl at being a telephone doctor. Now he vies with Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers in song and dance and comedy in their starring picture.

CAPITOL Glenda Farrell plays her typical vamp part in the First National musical spectacle, "Gold Diggers of 1935," which is now at the Capitol Theatre. She has the role of secretary to a millionaire (Hugh Herbert), flatters him until he loses his head and signs a love lyric addressed to her. Then she brings action for breach of promise, and collects.

"If you, by hazard, pass through Fort Pitt, you will accompany Felicity on her return home, which return I have instantly commanded her by this express. I have received a singular letter from my Lord Dunmore, which has astonished me. My answer to him I delay until Felicity returns."

"Michael, I have had a most strange and unpleasant letter from Sir Peter Warren, who encloses with it certain amazing documents. These papers were lately sent to him from Chatham Dockyard, having been discovered under the cabin floor of the warship Leda, which his brother lately commanded and which is now repairing at Chatham."

"The documents concern Felicity—and us all—and I wish you to know that I no longer approve of your union with her, at least not until both she and you are fully acquainted with the contents of these documents."

"And now, dear son, I can but wait for you to come."

"Always affectionate
"Wm. Johnson, Bart."

I rose and burned the letter in the candle's flame. Then I looked at my watch, and was amazed to find that it lacked but a few moments to the time set for our departure from the "Virginia Arms."

Rolf had already lighted the chaise lamps. Shemuel had crawled inside with our weapons, and Renard sat his post saddle, adjusting the stirrups, while Mount was climbing into the saddle of the high leader.

I stood holding my ticking time-piece under the coach lamp, eyes following the slow pointers traveling round the hour.

And as I stood there, a woman came slipping swiftly into the alley, cloaked and bareheaded. She ran to the horse on which Mount was sitting and caught the forest runner by the fringe on his sleeve. I saw then that she was the thief-taker's child.

"Holly-toity! What's the pay?" fumed Rolf. "Darn these bold wenches who—"

"Keep quiet!" I said sharply. "There's trouble abroad somewhere."

"Oh, Mr. Cardigan," called Mount softly, "Sir Thompson and a gang o' d'ciples is coming up Pitt Street, and Bully Bishop's with them."

The girl turned her frightened face to me.

"They came for father to take Jack Mount. I ran out the back door, sir. Oh, hasten! hasten!" she wailed, looking at Mount and wringing her hands.

The big fellow stooped from his saddle and deliberately kissed her. "Thank you, my dear," he said. "I'll come back for another before I die. Au large, Jimmy. Up with you, Mr. Cardigan."

"Turn those horses. Take the back way," whispered Rolf.

The next moment I had wheeled the chaise and four back into the darkness and around a rambling row of sheds and stables. Following Rolf, we came to a creaking gate swinging loosely, and then bumped out into a field, hub deep in buttercups.

"I'll keep the scratch-wigs amused," whispered Rolf, as I climbed to the forward seat and picked up my rifle, and away we jolted across the starlit pasture and out into a narrow, unlighted cattle lane, which we followed to the bars. These Shemuel let down, and Mount rode our horses out into the dark Boundary Road.

On we went at a slapping trot. Presently I saw the lighted windows of Lady Shelton's house glimmering among the trees. A lane

CHAPTER XXVI

Suddenly we were all startled by a rattle of hoofs. Every man there reached for his rifle. Then the alley itself resounded with the clattering hoof-strokes of a hard-ridden horse.

"It's an express," muttered Mount, lowering his long rifle and leaning on it to watch the dark rider pull his frantic horse to its haunches and seat in the walled by the glow of the opening kitchen door.

Rolf came out, holding his hands up for the packet.

"Three for you, Jimmy," said the bareheaded express-rider, passing the letters over.

"Where is your mate?" asked Rolf anxiously.

"Hiram? Full of war arrows 't'other side o' Crown Gap. Here's his pouch."

"Scalped?" asked Rolf in a low voice.

"I reckon he is. He never knowned nothing after the third arrow. Them Wyandottes done it."

"News o' Boston?" asked Rolf meaningly.

"Plenty! Plenty! Port Bill in force. More redcoats landed. More on the way, more to come. That reminds me, Jim—turning to Rolf—

"I've a packet for a certain Michael. He's a messenger to be hunted up south o' Crown Gap."

"Right here," said Rolf promptly, and the express-rider passed the letter to him. Then, with a careless "See you later," he wheeled his horse short and galloped back along the alley.

The crowd on the steps flocked back into the kitchen; the door closed, then opened to let out Rolf, who advanced toward me, letter in one hand, fanning candle in the other.

"Light the coach lamps," I whispered, and, taking the candle and letter, sat down on a pile of pine timber to read what Sir William had sent me.

"Dear Lad,—by runners from the Cayuga I know how gallantly you have conducted."

"I am holding the Mohawks back by their very throats, but mischief brews at the Upper Castle."

"A most deadly and bitter feeling runs flood in Johnston; nightly outrages are reported to me, and I fear that the so-called patriots are quite as blameworthy as are the loyalists."

"If you, by hazard, pass through Fort Pitt, you will accompany Felicity on her return home, which return I have instantly commanded her by this express. I have received a singular letter from my Lord Dunmore, which has astonished me. My answer to him I delay until Felicity returns."

I rose and burned the letter in the candle's flame. Then I looked at my watch, and was amazed to find that it lacked but a few moments to the time set for our departure from the "Virginia Arms."

Rolf had already lighted the chaise lamps. Shemuel had crawled inside with our weapons, and Renard sat his post saddle, adjusting the stirrups, while Mount was climbing into the saddle of the high leader.

I stood holding my ticking time-piece under the coach lamp, eyes following the slow pointers traveling round the hour.

And as I stood there, a woman came slipping swiftly into the alley, cloaked and bareheaded. She ran to the horse on which Mount was sitting and caught the forest runner by the fringe on his sleeve. I saw then that she was the thief-taker's child.

"Holly-toity! What's the pay?" fumed Rolf. "Darn these bold wenches who—"

"Keep quiet!" I said sharply. "There's trouble abroad somewhere."

"Oh, Mr. Cardigan," called Mount softly, "Sir Thompson and a gang o' d'ciples is coming up Pitt Street, and Bully Bishop's with them."

led around the house to the right; up this dim path I directed the chaise and four until I found room to turn them back, facing up Boundary Road again. Here our chaise might lie concealed, and here I quietly bade Mount and the other two await me. Through the dim trees I stole up near the house. Then, as I leaned breathless against a tree, the fortress bell struck slowly eleven times.

Far away in the fortress the bell struck the half-hour. Suddenly the dark door opened; a heavy figure appeared in silhouette against the light. My heart stood still; it was Black Betty.

The negress peered out into the darkness, and looked up at the stars. Then, as though summoned from within, she turned quickly and entered the house, leaving the door wide open behind her.

I could wait no longer; I stole up to the porch. The hallway was empty; I stepped to the sill, crossed it, and surveyed the empty stairway and the gallery above. There was not a soul in sight. A door on my right stood open; I looked in, then entered the smaller of two rooms that were partly separated from each other by two folding doors.

Treading on the velvet carpet, I passed into the farther room. Not a soul to be seen anywhere. I strove to crush out the fear that was laying key fingers on my breast and turned to re-enter the smaller room. But just at that instant I heard the front door close and voices sounding along the outer hallway. I stepped behind a gilt cabinet and drew my heavy knife, perfectly aware that I was trapped.

Through the carved foliage of the cabinet I saw three people enter the smaller room. They stood there in low-voiced consultation—Lady Shelton, my Lord Dunmore, and my mortal enemy, Walter Butler, tricked out in lace and velvet. Butler stood so near me that my hot hand could have fastened on his throat. He turned toward Dunmore with a gesture.

"If I am to conduct Miss Warren," said Butler gloomily, "you had best see her without delay, my lord."

"Come, now," said Dunmore, slyly. "I am half minded to conduct her myself. Captain Butler, come me if I am not. I hear you once vowed to wed her in spite of Sir William and me, too. Darn! rogue!"

"I'll merit your suspicions," added Butler slyly. "I beg to wish you good fortune and good night."

He bowed very low and turned curtly toward the door.

"No! Darn me if I suspect you!" cried Dunmore hastily. "Come back, Captain Butler. You shall conduct Miss Warren to Williamsburg. I say it, I mean it. Body o' Judas! Am I not to follow as soon as I hang this fellow Mount and his rabble o' ragged potlipoor?"

"Will you be pleased—to—to to re-leave Miss Warren immediately?" asked Lady Shelton in a flutter. "I have her closely watched wherever she takes a step. Lud! she would have gone these two hours had not Captain Butler's man caught my footman with a guinea."

Lady Shelton pattered hastily out of the room.

Butler, with a shrug, swung on his heel and walked noiselessly past my hiding-place on into the big room beyond.

Dunmore stood listening and shaking out the long, delicate lace on his cuffs. Nobody came. My anxious thoughts had flown upstairs to seek the dear maid who had given herself to me.

At first sight of her hood and traveling coat, Lord Dunmore had my hiding-place on into the big room beyond.

that wood-running whelp, Cardigan!" he burst out. "Oh, no, my lady; that cock won't fight. D'ye hear?"

Dunmore was pacing the carpet like one demented.

"It will not be so used! Curse me if I will," he snarled, biting his polished nails. "Hell's fury, madam! So you plan to run off with this dirty forest runner in a post chaise—eh? Choke me if you shall!"

"Pray—pray let me pass," gasped Silver Heels, white with fright.

He caught the door in his hand, closing it, and planted himself with his back against it. Then he fumbled behind him for the key, but it was in the other side of the door.

"Oh, no, not yet," he said. "I must pass that door," repeated Silver Heels breathlessly.

"Darn me, you shall not!" he cried. "Curse me if I let you go to that buckskin lout of yours. You shall not go! You shall not!"

His voice ended in a shriek; the door behind him burst open, flinging him forward, and Black Betty appeared, eyes ablaze and teeth bared. The next instant Silver Heels sprang through the door, heard the key turn on the other side with a click.

SPANISH DANCES WILL BE FEATURE OF REVUE

The Spanish group of numbers arranged for the dance revue of the Florence Clough Academy, to be given at the Royal Theatre on June 7, is certain to be a favorite.

The colorful music and dancing of these buoyant, gay people has always appealed and attracted perhaps more than any other, for no finely tutored sense is needed to understand and love the fire and captivating rhythm of Spanish dancing.

A sunlit patio provides the setting for these characteristic Spanish dances, no more alluring in their beauty of rhythm than in the vivid richness of the costumes. The "Carloca," newest favorite, swirls in multi-colored skirts, abbreviated and daring. Thelma Stratford, with James Watt syncope in the rumba.

"La Cucaracha," a gay Mexican dance, is brilliantly performed with catanets by Thelma Ackerman and Patricia Pennock. The "Toreador" from "Carmen" is the music used for another number.

IMPERIAL OIL was a little Company in 1880. There was then only a handful of employees. A dozen or so products were the Company's stock in trade.

Today nearly 18,000 Canadian men and women are engaged in making and selling 714 different Imperial Oil Products. So, counting their families, there are about 90,000 people directly dependent for livelihood on this Company and its operations. 90,000 is a lot of Canadians.

A LITTLE COMPANY GROWN BIG

new needs with new products and new services all played their part. Of course a loyal, capable staff was indispensable. Such a staff was built up by fair and considerate treatment. Good wages, sickness and death benefits, retirement pensions, group insurance, industrial councils—these are some of the measures by which the Company has recognized its responsibility to the men and women in its employ. These men and women have recognized in turn their responsibility to the Company. By loyal, whole-hearted service they have helped it to make better products at lower cost and thus become "a big company."

Imperial Oil's growth depended upon more than growth in population and demand. Fair dealing, honest value and the ability to meet

RUTH'S FUTURE CAREER IN BASEBALL DOUBTFUL

Famous Slugger of Majors Returns to Home After Break

Suddenly Quits Braves Sunday After Three Months in the National League—Owner and Manager Criticizes the Bambino—Dispute Over Salary Is Cause, States Ruth

By ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor

NEW YORK, June 3 (AP).—Babe Ruth, breaking off his comeback with Boston Braves amid an outburst of bitterness after three months of his three-year contract had elapsed, returned to New York with his major league baseball future in doubt, if not entirely behind him. There is no place in the big leagues for the big fellow to go. Not a single club in the National or American League, polled today by the Associated Press, manifested anything but an academic interest in what Ruth does next.

BABE RUTH

Ruth's break with the Boston club president, Emil Fuchs, was anticipated, but followed, as it was today, by Manager Bill McKenchie's criticism of the Babe's influence on team discipline, the whole affair marks a sour ending to an arrangement that blossomed so hopefully this spring.

SEMI-FINALS ARE REACHED

Randall, Marling, Schwengers and MacKenzie Advance at Colwood

Semi-finalists were named in the Royal Colwood Golf Club championship recently at the well-trapped layout. Dave Randall, medalist, advanced to the last four by winning from Rowan MacKenzie, 4 and 3, while Sandy Marling took a similar decision from Cec Brown, B. P. Schwengers hurled D. A. Macdonald, 4 and 3, and "Scotty" MacKenzie moved into the semi-finals by defeating Howard Reid, 3 and 1. Play continued in the various flights and also the "B" class championship, which has narrowed down to the semi-finals.

COULDN'T PAY SALARY
"Fuchs wanted me out because he couldn't pay me the salary he agreed to—$25,000 a year for three years," said the Babe. "But he didn't know how to go about it, so I quit."

The Babe was incredulous when told McKenchie had charged him with undermining the discipline of the club. "There's no basis for that at all," he roared. "How could he say a thing like that? Anyway, I'm all washed up with the outfit and I'm not going to carry on any more arguments."

McKENCHIE SPEAKS
BOSTON, June 3 (AP).—While his right hand was still tingling from Babe Ruth's farewell handshake, Bill McKenchie, manager of the newly-retired home run slugger as a detriment to his ball club. A long statement blasting Ruth's record as a Brave was issued over McKenchie's signature. "I must state publicly, in justice to the action of Judge Fuchs with reference to Babe Ruth, on Friday and Saturday of last week I pointed out to Judge Fuchs the main trouble with the ball club was that it was not able to function properly with Babe Ruth playing in the outfield," McKenchie said.

"I frankly stated certain actions of Ruth, while with the club, which I would absolutely forbid with any other member of the club, were responsible for the lack of discipline, and unless Judge Fuchs could convince Ruth to retire I was unable to get any real baseball discipline or proper spirit as manifested by the club previous to the acquisition of Ruth."

IRISH DRAWING IS COMPLETED

DUBLIN, June 3 (CP).—The draw of the Irish Free State Hospitals Sweepstake on the Derby concluded tonight, leaving thirty unidentified Canadians holding tickets on horses—most of them non-starters in Wednesday's race—and fifty-four others holding consolation awards of $486 cash each. No Canadians managed to get any of the ten residual prizes of $30,000.

Tickets on horses are each worth $2.50 regardless of whether the horse starts or not. Canada thus gets a minimum of $93,750—and a winning ticket is worth in addition $150,000, second $75,000 and third $50,000. Seven of the Canadian "horse" tickets are on starters.

AMERICANS LUCKY

The United States, which contributed by far the largest proportion of the receipts, was assured approximately $1,318,930.

The new anti-lottery laws of the United Kingdom, seen responsible for the huge drop in receipts which sent the Derby takings down to $8,500,000 compared with a high of nearly $20,000,000 in 1932, was assailed by Lord Mayor Alfie Byrne in closing the draw tonight.

He appealed for a better understanding between England and Ireland which would eliminate the crippling effect of the new law on the sale of tickets in Great Britain.

GEE CAPTURES TRACK HONORS AT MT. TOLMIE

Flashes Fine Form to Lift Senior Championship at University

Jimmy Gee, powerfully-built trackman, walked off the field with eighteen points to his credit and the senior championship tucked under his arm yesterday at the annual University School track meet, held at the school's Mount Tolmie grounds. Robin Senior, with fourteen points, was winner in the junior events. The winners received the Corsan and Marpole Cups, respectively, for their victories.

Gee was also awarded the Ker Cup, highest possible award at the school for all-round excellence in sports, leadership, character and academic work.

Stan Teagle was runner-up to the senior winner and finished the meet with ten points credited to his name. Jack Jones, with six points, was junior runner-up.

MEET SLOWER
Generally the meet was slower than that run in previous years and no records established at the school were broken.

Pretty finishes featured the meet and the large crowd of friends and relatives present were highly entertained by the smart running ability of the University boys.

Gee checked in with three wins during the afternoon and this total attached to the points he secured in the field events, held previously, gave him a well-deserved win.

Two highlights of the meet were the Old Boys and the School relay race, which was taken by the Old Boys in a breath-taking finish, and the mile won by Sworder. Sworder let all out after the final lap was signaled and won in a walk. Spens and Field were deadlocked for second place.

Security Prices Rally Well at New York Mart

NEW YORK, June 3 (AP).—Ceasing its lamentations for the NRA, the stock market rallied today to register the sharpest average gain in nearly a month.

Buyers were hesitant, however, and the rebound represented cessation of selling rather than renewal of large-scale buying. While advances of fractions to 3 points appeared throughout the list, the day's turnover was only 599,030 shares, the smallest for a five-hour session since April 4.

It was the first time the market as a whole had closed higher, however, since a week ago.

Week-end business surveys mentioned better retail trade with more favorable weather in several areas, and continued pick-up in residential building. Industrial production, however, appeared to be in a pronounced seasonal decline.

Utilities led the rise in stocks. The average of fifteen utility stocks reached a new high for 1935. Wider gains in industrials were chiefly in chemicals and farm implements. Metals were mixed. American Smelting reduced the price of lead by $3 a ton, following last week's cut of 32. Copper futures sagged moderately, but in shares, Anaconda rose a fraction, and Kennecott nearly a point.

Among shares advancing around 2 to 3 points were Air Reduction at 132, Allied Chemical at 143-3/4, Case at 33, Celanese at 23 and International Harvester at 39-1/2. The Associated Press average of sixty shares advanced 3 to 4 1/2.

Among Canadian issues Noranda advanced a point, Canadian Pacific, Lakeshore and Hiram Walker were slightly lower.

Rails and utilities displayed a rather firm undertone in the bond market, but profit-taking in some of the industrials gave the list a ragged appearance.

International Mercantile Marine's 5s dropped 3 points to 50 when the company reported a loss of more than $2,000,000 for 1934, or only $15,000 less than in the previous period. Chile Copper's 5s lost about a point at 91-3/4.

French 7s advanced 1-1/2 points to 175-1/2, but the 7-1/2s were off 3-4 at 176-3/4.

Your Health and Your Weight

FOOD AND OTHER METHODS OF INCREASING WEIGHT

By JAS. W. BARTON, M.D.

Whenever you see a plump, a grouch, or a pessimist pictured, he is always skinnier, with prominent cheek bones and a hatched face. It would seem that these individuals are so busy at their particular job of saving money and telling the world that he is going to do that they haven't time to eat, or else what they do eat does not get handled properly by the building up processes of the body.

Some of these individuals may have a "fast" thyroid gland, that is, the juice from this gland is so abundant that it drives the body processes too rapidly, and the tissues and foodstuffs are burned completely with nothing left to store away as fat, that is, the right amount of fat for health. However, there is a large number who have been born nervous or restless, and it is this nervousness and restlessness that prevents them attaining normal weight, either by using up their tissues by overactivity, or because their very nervousness interferes with appetite and digestion.

In regard to some of these underweights, Professor E. V. McCollum, Johns Hopkins University, says, "Their nerves are disordered because there is something else wrong in their system. These are restless, active and overconscientious people who are in the habit of working beyond their ability, because they are not really strong physically. They worry and expect the worst all the time. They are possessed with fear for their health, fear for failure in business, fear for the safety of family or friends. Most of them have digestive disturbances and are afraid to eat certain common foods because they do not agree with them."

You have been taught that fat is a great liability to the body, and you naturally ask yourself why these thin individuals should not have abounding health seeing that they are not encumbered with fat. Fat is a burden to the heart, blood vessels and kidneys, renders the individual more likely to develop ordinary infections and makes one a poor risk if surgery must be performed.

However, there is a happy medium and Nature intended that your body should have a certain amount of fat on the surface of the body, and also in and about the organs and tissues. This little "padding" of fat not only rounds out the appearance of the individual and prevents the hatched face and scrawny body, but is of real use as a reserve supply of food or energy when needed.

All the little nerve endings are padded with a little fat, and fat also helps to hold up the various organs in the abdomen.

You can understand that those who are very thin, with no fat to support the organs, are almost sure to suffer with indigestion and constipation, due to the sagging of the abdominal organs.

To make matters worse, all the muscles of the body become flabby, including the front muscular wall of the abdomen, and it lets these organs fall further forward and downward.

And we find these restless, thin nervous individuals try to keep going all the time, and yet they are really tired all the time.

There are other cases where infection—teeth, tonsils, gall bladder, intestine—is simply "heating them out"—no appetite, poor digestion, tiredness all the time.

I believe you already have the idea behind the cure of underweight.

1. The removal of any infection, which may mean examination by physician and dentist.

2. The building up of the body by the use of rich nourishing foods such as butter, cream, bacon, milk, eggs, meat, sugar and cocoa.

3. The use of an abdominal support at the beginning of the building-up process, as this not only holds the organs up in position, but gives the thin individual some general support, thus enabling him to be up and about more. This being able to be about more is helpful to the mind also.

4. Rest. Sometimes this means a complete rest for a few weeks, but for the majority, where possible, a half hour's rest morning and afternoon may be sufficient.

THE CORONER AND HIS INQUEST

Advise any holder of that fast-fading office of coroner that he is a surviving institution from the feudal days when a man's life belonged to the king or crown, and he would undoubtedly be both amazed and amused; yet that is exactly what he does and is, in his capacity of inquisitor into the snuffing out of a human life under suspicious circumstances. Coroner was originally crowner. He was the prosecuting agency of the crown. He was an important local representative of royalty, functioning half-a thousand years ago.

Today, the coroner has been largely supplanted by the medical examiner—the more appropriate scientific designation for a scientific occupation—investigation into the cause of death, usually sudden and mysterious, and often than not allegedly due to violence. The inquiry or inquest is frequently conducted before a jury and usually in the immediate vicinity of the fatality.

C.C.F. WAITING UPON REPLY

No Answer Yet From Professor King Gordon, Party Officials Declare

Members of the C.C.F. party in Victoria were still waiting yesterday to hear from Professor King Gordon as to whether or not he will accept the proffered nomination in the Federal riding here. Rev. Robert Connell, leader of the Opposition in the Provincial Legislature, explained that the party had sent forward the invitation to Professor Gordon, but had not yet received a reply.

If the professor accepts the nomination as the C.C.F. standard bearer in Victoria that will end the search, Mr. Connell said. If he cannot accept, the question of another choice would then be faced. His name was picked at a closed convention here several weeks ago. Officials of the party yesterday were without definite word on the subject, some difficulty having been found in getting in touch with Professor Gordon, who is believed to be traveling.

RECEIVES PROMOTION

Sir Thomas White, of Toronto, promoted to the Grand Cross of the Order of St. Michael and St. George from Knight Commander, was Canada's war-time Finance Minister. He has been out of politics since 1919 and is a director of many Canadian companies.
Born in Bronte, Ont., November 18, 1866, Sir Thomas was educated as a lawyer and at forty-five years of age became Canada's Finance Minister. He represented Leeds County in the House of Commons and was knighted during the war.
Sir Thomas has served the Government in many capacities since retiring from active politics, always gratefully. He was chairman of the Royal Commission on Maritime Subsidies which reported to the Government early this year.

E. W. Beatty, of Montreal, awarded the Grand Cross of the Order of the British Empire, is president of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company. The award was in recognition of his "philanthropic, charitable and his community service." He is chancellor of McGill University and president of the Boy Scouts Association in Canada.
Mr. Beatty was born in Thorold, Ont., October 16, 1877, and after his education in Toronto entered the legal department of the C.P.R., becoming president in 1918. He is a director of numerous companies and trustee of the Royal Victoria Hospital, Montreal.

Hon. Herbert M. Marler, made a Knight Commander of the Order of St. Michael and St. George, is Canada's minister to Japan, a position he has held since January, 1929. He was born in Montreal in 1876 and comes from an old-established French-Canadian family. He was educated at McGill and started his public life by entering the House of Commons in 1921.
He was a minister without portfolio in the Mackenzie King Government in 1926, but was defeated in the general election of that year.

In 1927, Mr. Marler was treasurer of the National Diamond Jubilee committee. His title is a recognition by the King of Canada's Foreign Service.

Arthur G. Doughty, made a Knight of the British Empire, has been Dominion archivist since 1904 and is the real founder of Canada's Historical Records Repository. He also is one of the foremost writers on early Canadian history.

Arthur G. Doughty was born in England in 1860 and was educated at Oxford University. He entered the services of the Province of Quebec in 1886. He is a member of the Geographic Board of Canada and has received many honors from Canadian and foreign universities and associations.
